

Nine Persons Are Hurt In Road Mishaps

Patrolmen Arrest Three Motorists For Drunk Driving

A young Lisbon motorist suffered a broken jaw and leg and eight others received lesser injuries in five of 12 traffic mishaps on district highways over the weekend.

Two Columbiana County motorists and one from Stark County were cited and jailed for driving while under the influence of alcohol, and six others were cited for other traffic infractions.

A Salem man was arrested in two mishaps five minutes apart. He and his two passengers were slightly injured.

Fairly Good Condition

Larry Wayne Hiner, 19, of 515 W. Maple St., Lisbon, is in fairly good condition at Salem City Hospital with a broken left jaw and leg and a cut lip after his car rolled over Sunday at 4:20 a.m. on Route 30, about four miles south of the county seat.

The Lisbon post of the State Highway Patrol said Hiner, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hiner, apparently fell asleep as he was heading toward home. The car went off the left side of the road, struck the end of a guard rail and rolled over. The 1961 Rambler sedan was demolished. The mishap is still under investigation.

Norman M. Rader, 25, of 384 W. 2nd Ave., Salem, was cited for failing to stop in the assured clear distance and speed excessive for conditions after a two-mishap five minutes apart Saturday in eastern Columbiana County. He suffered a bump on the left elbow in the first mishap at 8:05 p.m. and his two passengers, James Beach, 25, of 391 Penn Ave., and James Dillon, 22, of 458 Aetna St. received bumps on the head in the second mishap. They did not require treatment.

Hits Rear of Auto

Rader and his two friends were heading south on Millrock Rd. (Township Rd. 933), south of New Waterford, when their car struck the rear of a car operated by Edward O. Smith, 30, of Box 17, Rogers, as Smith slowed to pass over a narrow bridge about a mile north of State Route 154. For this violation Rader was cited for failing to stop in the assured clear distance.

Rader proceeded on, turned right onto Riffle Rd. (Township Rd. 890), where seven-tenths of a mile west of Route 154, his car went off the right side of the road, plowed over an embankment and into a pole and rolled over on its top. Beach and Dillon were bumped on the head and Rader was cited for driving too fast for conditions by Patrolman Neil Gray.

Two Trumbull County young men were hurt in a two-car mishap today at 8 a.m. Sunday on Route 62 in front of the United Tool and Die Co. about a mile north of Route 165.

The driver, James L. Putnam, 19, of Vienna received lacerations of the forehead and his passenger, Clyde D. Putnam, 17,

Leetonia, Southern Win Band Awards

Southern Local's small, but excellent, 58-member band won a "1" (superior) rating and Leetonia's 65-member aggregation was given a "2" or excellent rating at the state competition in Columbus Saturday.

North Lima's band, directed by Anthony Cebriak, also was rated "excellent."

Southern Local's band is directed by Charles Temple with Oscar Gartrell as assistant and Leetonia's band is directed by Dean Cummings, in his first year at Leetonia.

The Salineville area band walked off with honors in the B-2 class at Clinton Junior High School, while Leetonia participated in the C-1 class at Bexley High near Capital University.

Two buses took the Bears band to the contest, with Francis Perry and Lynn Ripley driving. Chaperones for the group were Mrs. Jean Baulo, Mrs. Joe Altomare, Mrs. Andrew Freer, Mrs. Jane Gongaware and Acting Superintendent George Trombitas.

Rhodes Urges Redistricting, Pay Increases For Teachers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Congressional redistricting, highway funds and higher pay for teachers are among items which Gov. James A. Rhodes wants the general assembly to consider at its next session.

Three proposals were some of the items drawn up for the legislature's consideration by Rhodes and his assistants at a meeting over the week-end.

Some of the proposals are the governor's and others are suggestions from citizens, according to John M. McElroy, assistant to the governor.

The congressional redistricting proposal stems from a recent U.S. Supreme Court ruling requiring congressional districts be nearly as equal in population as possible.

McElroy said Sunday that political leaders of both parties agree that Ohio will have to redistrict soon or invite a court order that all of its congressmen be elected at large.

Rhodes also favors changes in the School Foundation law, McElroy said, which will insure higher rates of pay for school teachers and proposals for strengthening the Teachers Retirement System.

McElroy said Rhodes is less enthusiastic about extended service under the School Foundation law and believes that extended service programs should be second to the needs of teachers in any competition for tax money.

In connection with highway funds, McElroy said a special session would have to be called if the $500 million highway bond issue is approved at the May 5 primary election to enact legislation to put the funds from the bond issue to use.

McElroy said other proposals favored by Rhodes are:

—Liberalizing Ohio's recently enacted program of Aid to Dependent Children of the Unemployed (ADCU).

—Additional oil and gas regulations to encourage pooling of adjacent tracts of land too small to constitute a 10-acre drilling unit, to permit drilling in some state-owned land and to establish a schedule of fees for drilling permits that will take the cost of oil regulation off the general taxpayer.

—Strengthening the state's strip-mining laws, particularly measures to require a grading plan at the time a strip-mining license is issued.

—Requesting a call for consideration at a special session of salary increases for county office holders.

—A study by the legislature of the possibility of salary increases for state employees.

—Recommending repeal of a liquor law which McElroy said has the effect of putting into the hands of individual councilmen the power to decide who is to get what liquor permit in a particular district.

—Further legislation to cut the toll of highway deaths and injuries.

—Asking the general assembly to deal with a real estate tax problem posed by the Ohio Supreme Court's recent ruling that the Cuyahoga County auditor must assess all forms of real estate — industrial, commercial and residential — on a uniform basis.

—A measure creating a new program for financing industrial development.

—Recommending that recent changes made administratively in the Pardon and Parole Commission and in the Bureau of Probation and Parole be confirmed by the act of the legislature.

Court Turns Down Warren Case Review

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court refused today to review the trial of Frank Cickelli, of Warren, Ohio, who was convicted of aiding and abetting a Warren councilman in soliciting a bribe.

Cickelli, former Trumbull County (Ohio) Democratic chairman, was sentenced to two to 17 years in prison. The charge against him was made in connection with a sewer improvement project.

The Supreme Court dismissed Cickelli's appeal with a notation that it lacked jurisdiction.

Proper Child Rearing Convention Topic Here

Approximately 300 women attended the annual Spring Conference of the Ohio Guild Conservation League Saturday at the First Methodist Church, with Mrs. Howard Fenton of Champion, Northeast District president, presiding.

Rev. Jack Foster, pastor of the Paradise United Church of Christ, was the guest speaker. Also a consultant for the Mahoning County Courts juvenile department and director of sociology at Youngstown University, Rev. Foster talked on "Our Adolescents."

Stressing that inconsistency in child rearing is due to the confusion on the part of the parents, Rev. Foster listed five ba-

Four hundred and fifty persons attended the service and heard Rev. George E. Parkinson, DD, pastor of Christ United Presbyterian Church in Canton, give the dedicatory address.

Also participating in the service was Ralph Smith of Boardman, moderator of the Mahoning Presbytery, who presented the Scripture readings.

A tea was held following the services, with Mrs. Fred Koch in charge of arrangements. Mrs. Russell Barrow presided at the organ.

Peking Mum on Mediation Bid

By MRS. CHARLES WRIGHT

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Communist Romania says Red China has not replied to a Romanian proposal for a Soviet-Chinese meeting at which Romania would try to mediate their bitter dispute.

The Russians "agreed in general" with the Romanian proposal, the Romanian Communist party newspaper "Scinteia" said Sunday.

The Romanians urged the three-party meeting last month to obtain a truce in communisms internal war and to set the stage for an international conference of Communist party leaders to give the world a display of unity.

In a party statement and long analysis of the Romanian mediation effort, the newspaper appealed for a truce in the ideological dispute, saying it was "the duty of every (Communist) party to do its utmost to divert the danger of a split."

The Romanians said the Soviet-Chinese-Romanian conference should discuss and finalize an appeal to all the Communist and workers' parties "to solve controversial issues in conformity with the norms jointly established at the 1957 and 1960 Moscow conferences concerning relations between Communist parties."

The Soviets also have proposed a conference of Communist parties, confident that Soviet Premier Khrushchev's views would be upheld over those of Red Chinese party Chairman Mao Tze-tung. Peking has been cool to such a conference.

Despite the Romanian plea for a halt in the verbal hostilities, Moscow and Peking continued to

Pennsylvania Primary Eyed By GOP

By MRS. CHARLES WRIGHT

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—National Republican leaders and political observers will focus their attention on Tuesday's Pennsylvania primary to see how big a write-in Gov. William W. Scranton gets for the Republican presidential nomination.

Scranton has not encouraged the write-in drive.

There were no presidential candidates on the ballots, but state Republican leaders hope a strong write-in for the wealthy, 46-year-old industrialist will ignite a draft movement for him.

Scranton, who had to be persuaded to run for governor two years ago, has often said he is not a candidate, that he does not want the nomination and would take it only in the event of a sincere and unengineered draft.

A Scranton-for-President committee met in Kansas City Sunday and said the outcome of the primary here would not affect its efforts.

Scranton's administrative assistant, William Keisling, told the Kansas City meeting that write-in votes for Scranton "are expected to be microscopic."

While the write-in campaign has drawn attention nationally, the fight for the Democratic Senate nomination has struck the most sparks in the common-

Intruder Ransacks Woman's Apartment

Police Probe Louis Nagy's Death In Store

Theorize Druggist May Have Balked At Holdup Attempt

By ABE RICH

ALLIANCE — Why was Louis J. (Lou) Nagy, prominent Alliance pharmacist and drug store owner, savagely murdered Saturday night at his pharmacy at 1203 W. State St.?

What was the motive for the killing, in which the murderer pumped three slugs from a .32 caliber pistol into the 46-year-old businessman?

One possibility, police say, is that there was a robbery attempt and the intruder or intruders, realizing Mr. Nagy had recognized him or them, panicked and then shot him to silence him.

Another theory is that someone trying to obtain narcotics may have gone berserk when the druggist refused to give or sell him the dope.

At present, a logical motive appears to be the big puzzle in the ruthless murder.

No Signs of Struggle

Apparently no money or drugs were taken, there were no signs of a struggle and nothing was ransacked.

Police Chief Donald Cowen said that while his department has not discarded robbery as the motive, it is also checking every other possibility.

"We have not exhausted all our leads," the chief said, "and residents have been extremely helpful with bits of information which they have volunteered since the shooting and murder occurred. We are asking anyone who might know anything about the case to contact the police."

"Each source will be treated confidentially," he said and no matter how insignificant the information may seem, we want it.

At least 20 persons have been questioned by police, who have worked around the clock since the shooting at about 8:04 p.m. Saturday. Mr. Nagy was pronounced dead some 16 minutes later at Alliance hospital.

There was no indication of tragedy in the neighborhood pharmacy when a friend of Mr. Nagy, James Calvin Walker of 729 Fairview Place, walked into the store accompanied by his son, James, 10.

They heard moans. Mr. Walk-

Negley Man Badly Hurt In Car Mishap

George Riley, 34, of Negley is listed in "poor" condition at Salem City Hospital after his car struck a tree and pole today at 3:50 a.m. on N. Market St. hill in East Palestine. He suffered abrasions of the face and right knee.

His wife, Jane Riley, 33, was treated for minor injuries and released.

It is not known who was driving the car, but East Palestine police are continuing their investigation.

The couple was headed south on the hill when the car skidded on the wet pavement, hit the tree, slid back across the road and struck a city utility pole. Riley was forced into the windshield and thrown from the car on the passenger side, apparently knocked unconscious. The 1956 Ford was a total loss.

Ousted Couple Loses Church Membership After Row With Priest

IONIA, Mich. (AP)—An Ionia couple was excommunicated Sunday after charging their Episcopal priest with harboring "archaic beliefs and moral knowledge" in his criticism of a dance in a high school production of the musical "Damn Yankees."

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clore were stripped of their membership in the Ionia Episcopal church by the Rev. Raymond Bierlein, who said he acted because of a letter written by the Clores published Friday in the Ionia Daily Sentinel-Standard.

"We can no longer restrain our feelings concerning the objections voiced by our rector to the dancing in the current high school musical play," the letter said in part.

Termining a dance sequence "salacious and immoral," the Rev. Mr. Bierlein last Monday objected before the school board to the characterization of Lola in the play by 16-year-old Kristi Honson who wore a brief black outfit with a split skirt.

Kristi, playing the role of the provocative temptress danced into the audience and pinched cheeks.

"I don't want any children taught to dance like that for any excuse whatever," Bierlein told the school board.

Kristi, as a result, was ordered not to dance into the audience by the school superintendent, Robert Boyce and the play director, Raymond Monte. The school board sent a committee to watch the play Friday and Saturday.

Clore, whose son, Richard, had a part in the play, said, "I am entitled to make this comment about the play just as much as the rector."

History Today

Today is Monday, April 27, the 118th day of 1964. There are 248 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1822, Ulysses S. Grant, 18th president, was born at Point Pleasant, Ohio.

Grant served in the Mexican War, then turned to farming and real estate. In the Civil War, he was commissioned a colonel and eventually was given command of all Union troops by President Abraham Lincoln.

In 1891, ground was broken for Grant's tomb in New York City.

In 1882, the American poet and essayist, Ralph Waldo Emerson, died.

In 1939, Gen. George C. Marshall was appointed chief of staff of the Army.

In 1944, Allied forces completed the occupation of Hollandia, New Guinea.

In 1945, American and Russian troops met at the Elbe River at Torgau, cutting Germany in two.

Ten years ago . . . Two congressional committees opened hearings on steps to recover, if possible, millions realized by profiteers in World War II.

Five years ago . . . Indian Prime Minister Nehru made a strong attack on the Chinese Communists, denying their that the Tibetan revolt was the work of British imperialists and Indian expansionists.

Clues Sought In Slaying of Boy

JOLIET, Ill. (AP) — Police searched today for clues to the brutal slaying of an 11-year-old boy whose battered body was found Sunday, almost two days after he disappeared.

Coroner Willard Blood said John William Carnes' skull had been crushed by a heavy blow, apparently with a 15-20 pound block of flagstone found beside the body.

The boy was found by two youths under a trestle on an embankment between a drainage ditch and a canal on Santa Fe Railroad property at the north edge of Joliet. He had been missing since he started home from a boys' club meeting Friday night.

The victim was the oldest of nine children of Mr. and Mrs. John Carnes. The father, 39, is a laborer on a farm near Joliet.

Be glad you have the economical heat—GAS

If you had wire resistance heat, this situation would send your heating bills sky-rocketing. But not with gas. Gas heat is so thrifty, it can take the in-and-out traffic of an active family without wrecking the budget. You don't need expensive extra insulation to conserve heat, as you do with resistance heat. A forced-air gas heating system carries warm, fresh filtered air to every room in the house, including the basement. No layers of still air, where uncomfortable cold spots develop. And all this can be done with just one thermostat for the whole house. Individual room heating is old-fashioned. You don't need it with thrifty gas. When you want to convert to whole-house gas air conditioning, a compact gas cooling unit added to your modern forced-air gas heating system can do the job quickly and inexpensively.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT

Health Questions And Answers

To heat or not to heat the baby's bottle? This is the question confronting mothers today. For many years, mothers religiously warmed all bottles to body temperature for fear of chilling the baby's delicate stomach. Since the baby does not swallow cold milk in a series of large gulps, there is little danger of chilling the stomach. The milk is warmed to body temperature before it passes the upper portion of the esophagus.

A few of our more daring baby doctors about four years ago tried not warming the bottles before feeding in a hospital nursery. They even tried it on the premature infants. THEY FOUND that the babies loved the cold milk, slept well after a cold feeding and gained weight at the expected rate. There was no difference in the body temperature of the babies before and after feeding. Furthermore, there was no difference in the amount of burping or spitting up.

Mothers who were brave enough to give their babies cold formula right of the refrigerator — no doubt when grandma wasn't looking — were enthusiastic. It meant less work and there were no apparent disadvantages. Now some doctors are advancing the idea that allergy to milk is more likely to occur when the milk is given to babies without warming it. All the evidence isn't in yet, so your best bet is to follow your doctor's advice in what has become, for the moment at least, a controversial matter.

Q—My baby, 8 months old, hasn't a sign of a tooth. We use a water softener on the water intake. Could the baby's lateness in teething be due to the fact that I drank softened water throughout my pregnancy?

A—Although the lower front teeth usually appear at about 6 months of age, teething may be delayed until the baby is 1 year old. Such variations are completely normal, but are often a source of worry to parents. Late teething is a part of the normal developmental pattern of your baby and has nothing to do with the hardness of the water or your baby's development in other respects.

If when your baby is a year old he still has no teeth, some abnormality should be sought as the cause. This might be a deficiency of vitamin D, iodine or thyroid function.

NO ROOM AT THE 'IVY' COLLEGES — The Ivy League schools were swamped this year with 44,373 applications for admission, a 16 per cent increase over last year. Only 13,820 students were accepted for the available 9,075 places. The Ivies "overadmit" to compensate for the multiple applications students make. The students are from the beginning of the post-war baby boom. The Newschart provides the breakdown in applications and available freshman places in the seven colleges.

Insect Control Bulletin

"Controlling insects of field crops, livestock and stored grain" is the title of a bulletin recently released by Ohio State University, according to Donald K. Myers, Columbiana County extension agent in agriculture.

The bulletin lists the insect control recommendations for corn, legumes, small grains, and livestock including fly control recommendations for poultry and dairy.

Producers may obtain copies of this bulletin by contacting their farm extension service office.

Tractor Safety Advice

Don't let the pressures of spring work cause you to become careless in the operation of your machinery, is the advice of Robert Holmes, Ohio State University Extension safety specialist.

In the last seven years in Ohio 281 persons have been killed and more than 8,500 injured while operating or riding on a farm tractor. Thirty-five Ohio farmers died in tractor accidents last year. At that rate, about one in every 100 tractor operators in Ohio will be involved in an injury-producing accident this year.

Records show that about 60 per cent of the fatalities occur when the tractor overturns, crushing the victim beneath it. The rest of the accidents involve falling from the tractor, being crushed between the tractor and some stationary object, getting caught in an unshielded power takeoff shaft, or being fatally burned when the tractor catches fire.

Several conditions can cause a tractor to overturn, Holmes says. Most common is operating the tractor on too steep a slope.

"When working on a slope, farmers should avoid quick uphill turns and be alert for obstacles, such as stumps and stones," Holmes says. "The danger of overturning also can be lessened by spreading the wheels as wide as possible, but the most important thing to remember is to slow down before turning."

About one-third of tractor overturns are backward. Often they occur when the load is hitched too high. When pulling a load, Holmes suggests the hitch be from 13 inches to 20 inches above the ground and at least 4 inches behind the rear tires.

Egg Production Costs

Feed makes up more than half the farmer's cost of producing eggs.

Records kept by flock owners enrolled in Ohio State University's poultry record project show that feed accounted for 53 per cent of the total production expense when labor was included. Excluding labor, feed was 60 per cent of the total.

In analyzing 1963 records G. S. Vickers, Ohio State University Extension poultry specialist, notes a wide difference in feed costs among the record keepers. Feed waste accounts for part of the variation, he says. Last year it varied from almost nothing for some poultrymen to as high as 20 or 25 pounds per bird for others. Sometimes the cost of the feed wasted was more than the net profit.

"The average net profit of our record keepers in 1963 was 46 cents a bird," Vickers points out. "Take 20 pounds of feed at 3 1/2 cents a pound and it totals 70 cents a bird. That means that feed waste is the difference between profit and loss in some cases and certainly a reducer of profit in many others."

Vickers cites some other factors which influence feed costs, such as buying feed in quantity or using home-grown grain. Farmers who used their own grain mixed with a concentrate had a cost of 41 cents a hundred pounds less for their feed than those who purchased a complete mash. And the flocks which received the feed containing the home-grown grain produced as many eggs as those fed the all-commercial mash.

Persons interested in a complete analysis of the 1963 records may receive them by writing to Vickers at the Poultry State University, 674 W. Lane Ave., Columbus.

Shorts and Middlings

While the number of Ohio farms probably will drop to less than 100,000 by 1970, economists expect the total volume of agricultural production to increase.

Feeder pigs shipped into Ohio last year totaled 224,000, compared to 258,000 in 1962 and 133,000 in 1960, according to Ohio State University Extension economists.

Forty years ago the average dairy cow in Ohio produced 4,400 pounds of milk. Today she produces 8,600 pounds, according to Ohio State University agricultural economists.

Two Projects of Interest

Gov. Rhodes, in his recent Chamber of Commerce speech here, touched on two propositions of special interest to Salem. He spoke encouragingly on both.

One was the need of a good Columbiana County airport.

The other was the promise of action on the Route 62 improvement.

CONCERNING THE airport, the governor, who travels widely and recognizes the vital need of both good highways and airfields, laid it on the line when he started his address by pointing to the local area's obvious lack of an adequate airport.

Local fliers, industrialists and other businessmen who face competition from the many other companies who utilize air travel were encouraged by Gov. Rhodes' offer to help with an airport program. The Chamber's aviation committee can be expected to investigate all avenues of assistance, but it should be done early. It might be within the realm of possibility to expand one of the small existing fields, such as Salem Air Park to our north, although it lies in Mahoning County.

WITH REFERENCE to the Route 62 relocation, both the governor and district state highway department officials indicated that announcement of a hearing will be forthcoming on the proposal, since Salem and Alliance had come to an understanding on directions and had resolved other mutual problems.

Salem is interested in the over-all project, but more specifically in how the highway will be built with respect to Salem. We would like to have this spelled out in more detailed terms before May 5 when all Ohioans vote on the $500 million highway bond issue. We are entitled to know "when and where" concerning Route 62 before we vote.

Religion Is Concerned

When white clergymen of all faiths joined the Freedom March on Washington last August, religion in the United States moved into a defensible position on civil rights for Negroes.

There will continue to be individual clergymen in all parts of the country who will bear witness against the brotherhood of man, but a steady growth of participation by the clergy in civil rights demonstration has put these clergymen to shame. The churches are not indifferent to the great issue of the times.

Another opportunity for clergymen to bear witness for brotherhood will occur this week on Tuesday when a National Interreligious Convocation will be held in Washington on the campus of Georgetown University.

THIS HAS BEEN described in advance as the "largest gathering of ministers, priests and rabbis ever assembled in a witness to racial justice." The convocation is a joint undertaking of the National Council of Churches, the National Catholic Welfare Council and the Synagogue Council of America. Dozens of interreligious groups have been asked to participate.

But It Wasn't Show Biz

We may have seen the end of an era when the producers and distributors of "Cleopatra" sued Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton singly and jointly for a grand total of 50 million for "breach of contract" during and after the filming of the costly epic.

In the era that may be ending, publicity was for its own sake. "Spell the name right, Jack." Boy actors and girl actors were linked together for press agency for better or for worse. Publicity mills ground out an endless supply of materi-

'Fast' Time's Popular

Aside from a number of district farmers who find that Daylight Saving Time works to their disadvantage when it comes to performing chores on a sun-up, sunset schedule, most Salemites enjoy the "fast" time which went into effect Sunday.

Nevertheless, clock confusion prevails across the state because only the larger section of northeastern Ohio changes time twice a year. Perhaps someday in the distant future the time will be uniform state-wide and everyone will be happy with the longer evenings—nearly everyone, that is.

Purely Personal

You have to hand it to Robert Moses, president of the New York World's Fair. Referring to people who don't like the setting for Michaelangelo's "Pieta" and didn't want it displayed in the Vatican Pavilion, he growled, "Throughout the fair in all of our trials the critics have kept up their incessant yapping. Critics build nothing."

The late General of the Army Douglas MacArthur was married twice, which is widely known. Not widely known is the fact his first wife is still living and says General of the Armies John J. Pershing told her he would send MacArthur to the Philippines if she married him instead of Pershing. She did — and he did — and the marriage broke up in 1929.

I have been reading all my life about tipping. Tipping is wrong. It is degrading. It is an imposition on people who cannot afford it. And the only reason it exists is because chiseling employers refuse to pay living wages to people who must resort to mendacity to survive.

One of the eye-popping things in beautiful Shea Stadium, splendid new home of the New York Mets, is a contingent of eye-popping girls stationed at eye-popping points to pop eyes. Like Bill Vecek already insisted, baseball can be fun.

My favorite queen, Elizabeth II, is only 38 after all these years and four children, the latest born March 10. The British say they are lucky under a queen's reign, which suggests we might try Maggie Smith for the same reason. We could use some luck.

Seats will be provided for every member of the House of Representatives and the Senate. They have received invitations, and their presences and absences will be noted. The obvious purpose of the convocation is to remind legislators, especially senators, that the influence of organized religion is behind the civil rights campaign.

Not so obvious but perhaps more persuasive in the long run is the reminder to church members that the clergy in the United States is playing a historic role in the civil rights campaign.

PREACHERS put their weight behind the American Revolution. They bore witness in the Civil War. They are bearing witness now.

They never were unanimous. But neither were they indifferent.

The meeting on the Georgetown University campus this week will reflect their concern.

Church historians of the three principal faiths have pointed out that it will be the first time in the history of Christendom that religion will have spoken with "one voice on an issue of such contemporary social and political concern."

al for frustrated ladies to read while waiting for beauty to take hold in beauty parlors. That was show biz.

Even after the word went out to hammer at wholesomeness, because Hollywood was more famous for sin than cinema, there always were tidbits to satisfy frustrated fans of the photogenic dolls and dons of Glamerville. They expected fireworks when their Liz was cast with Burton in "Cleopatra."

But now, after the most sustained lick-lipper of the 20th century, a studio is suing both of them. If this, itself, isn't part of a buildup, it's the beginning of a historic change. Publicity experts must be jumping out of windows by the score as their world crumbles beneath their feet.

A Good Scout

Charles (Chick) Roessler of Lisbon has devoted 50 years of his life to scouting, helping Boy Scouts grow to better manhood. So it was fitting indeed that the Columbiana County Council of the Boy Scouts of America awarded Chick the Silver Beaver Medal, highest award that can go to a scoutmaster, at its recent annual meeting. Congratulations!

We should spell out in short words what politicians meant when they said Astronaut John Glenn was an unknown quantity. They meant they hadn't been able to pin him to any deals. He was an unknown quantity only in that respect. His character was unimpeachable, more than most politicians can say.

It's funny when you think about it that "freedom schools" set up in Cleveland when Negroes boycotted public schools for a day were segregated in terms of race, also in terms of information.

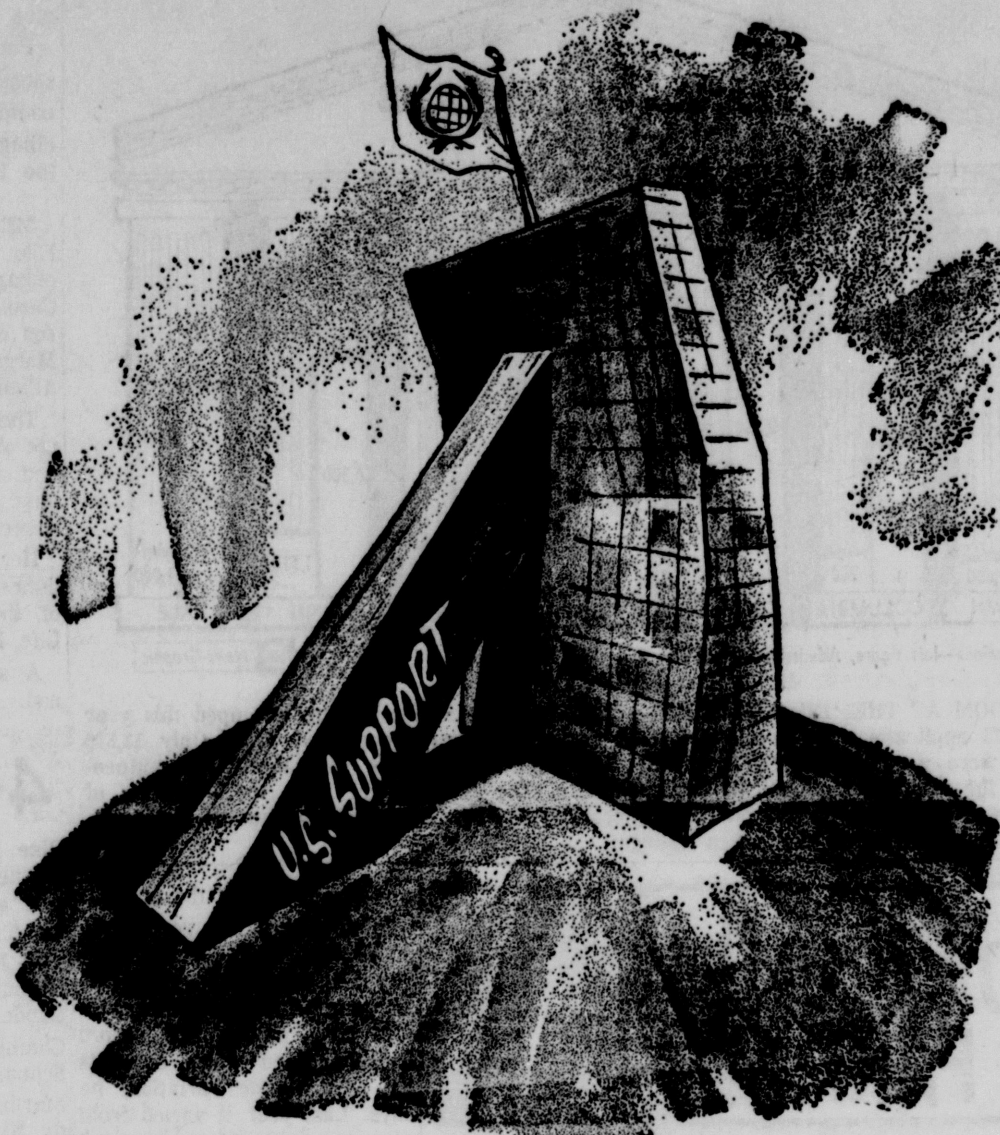

I consider a hyacinth blooming naturally in an outside flower garden to be the quintessence of springtime beauty. The only close contender is a child looking at the hyacinth.

Apropos of a paragraph in this column about women's ugly hats this year, I have received an invitation to look at men's hats "horribly unbecoming . . . makes 'em look like pointy-headed adolescents with I.Q. minus." Ouch! That's me, lady.

It won't keep us from being soaked with the penalty, but taxpayers finally reach a point in messing around with a complicated form where they don't care what happens and this may explain some sins of omission that have proved startling lately.

When the April 15 deadline for Ivy League acceptances passed this year, a student our household had been encouraging was accepted by three of the four schools he had applied to, which I feel is a most unusual accomplishment.

For All to See

'Reverse Blockbusting'

By ALBIN KREBS

When Mayor Arthur J. Holland moved into a sturdy old house in predominantly Negro and Puerto Rican section Feb. 28, dozens of out-of-town newsmen and cameramen were on hand.

The story of Mr. Holland's highly personal system of urban renewal — "reverse blockbusting," as he called it — captured the imagination of many Americans.

The move was completed and, as the visiting newsmen and photographers were about to leave, a reporter for one of Trenton's two papers tossed a wisecrack their way: "Are you fellows going to come back next week when Holland gets fed up and moves out of Blacktown?"

He was not alone in predicting the Hollands wouldn't remain long in their home at 138 Mercer St. in the state capital. "Some of my closest friends told me I was crazy to move to Mercer," says Mr. Holland. "They warned I'd be mugged, that my wife might get raped."

"But that was more than seven weeks ago, and everything's gone fine. There's been no trouble and we like our new neighbors. I'm afraid the doubters and worriers among my friends won't be able to say 'I told you so,' because this is a story with a happy ending."

MR. HOLLAND, 49, his wife and their 11-month-old daughter Cynthia have settled in at 138 Mercer st. and their only problem is getting the remodeling job on the house finished.

"Our main concerns are time and money, really," said Mr. Holland. "I had hoped to do a lot of the refurbishing work myself, but my City Hall job keeps me too busy. We're going to have to borrow more money to get it done. The remodeling is going to cost $15,000 before it's over."

The Hollands moved into the once-grand Mercer St. neighborhood, which over the past 20 years has declined into a Negro-Puerto Rican ghetto, for two reasons — one idealistic, the other strictly practical.

"We got a good buy on this 9-room, 100-year-old house—under $7,000," Mr. Holland said. "We also wanted to prove that different ethnic groups can get along together, build their neighborhoods together. This is true urban renewal, not the bulldozing variety."

The move to Mercer st. "simply makes good sense," he said. "I have a fine old house to live in till I die, and as a city official faced with the racial problem, I'm personally exploring means of solving it."

"Look," he said, "the problem of achieving integration can be licked in only one way — and that's integrated housing, multi-racial neighborhoods. Get that, and the other problems of integration are solved."

NOT EVERYONE considers Mr. Holland's move to Mercer St. nigh-minded. Among them is Charles Sandman of Cape May, Republican president of the State Senate.

"What he had in mind," said Mr. Sandman, "was not so much brotherhood as all those votes in East Trenton."

"Why East Trenton?" demanded Mr. Holland. "Why not West or North Trenton? There are plenty of Negroes there, too. Negroes make up about 27 per cent of our population, but voter registration among them is not proportionately high."

Mr. Holland said that "as a politician who'll be running for re-election two years from now, I naturally must consider the political consequences of what may have struck some people as a grandstand move."

"Frankly, I can't see how this is going to help me," he said. "I guess it would be natural for some Negroes and Puerto Ricans to support me — but if you know anything about human nature, you'll admit it's equally natural for some whites to withdraw past support because they don't approve of my actions. Things have a way of balancing out — and I'm worried."

AMONG WHITES, Mr. Holland said, there has been less criticism of his move to Mercer St. since he actually made it than before. "We bought the house almost a year before we moved in," he said, "and soon I had to stop counting the nasty telephone calls we got."

Mrs. Holland, who is expecting another child in June, said that "since we came to Mercer St., the calls have stopped. We haven't had a single crude call, there's been no vandalism directed at our property — and as some people predicted — a the neighbors are friendly."

The Mercer St. neighborhood admittedly has a "crime problem," Mr. Holland said, and he was warned long ago that robberies and burglaries are common.

"There was indeed a burglary in the Holland house a couple of weeks ago," he said — and then he laughed. "But the irony is, it was not our house, but the old Holland house — the one I just moved out of on Tyler st. In the 48 years I lived there, we never had a break-in."

Since the Hollands moved to Mercer St., real estate agents have noticed new interest in the area among prospective buyers, Mr. Holland said. "I know of four definite offers to buy houses on the street and I was present when my new next-door neighbor, Miss Jane Gibling, was offered $3,000 more for her house than we paid for ours."

"But there are more than offers. Joseph Loth, a prominent citizen who has a linoleum-covering and kitchen-finishing business, has bought the house four doors down from us and he's going to fix it up as a demonstration house, then rent it for what will have to be a sizeable amount."

THE MAYOR is cheerful about the future. "Maybe I've imagined it, but it seems to me the people on Mercer St. have begun to take more pride in their property since they got so much attention a few weeks ago. I notice they're sweeping the sidewalks in front of their homes — Lord knows they needed it. "There is no doubt about it—we've moved into a good neighborhood that has stopped going downhill. We're on the way back up. Didn't I tell you this was a story with a happy ending?"

Matter of Fact

In most European folk tales, giants appear as cruel and stupid savages given to cannibalism, are often one-eyed and hardly distinguishable from monsters. All this suggests that these tales may be derived in part from dim traditions of primitive races living alongside more advanced peoples who had conquered the land, but had not succeeded in subduing the aborigines.

Allergy Test

By JOSEPH R. HIXSON
CHICAGO — Penicillin may be the safest drug in the world, but it is still killing people with unexpected, disastrous allergic reactions.

Doctors in New York City and St. Louis think they have a better test for allergy to the first great antibiotic. But because only one in a hundred patients are sensitive to penicillin and its many chemical variations, developing a better test is time-consuming work.

Dr. Bernard Levine of New York University told specialists in drug activity that he is using the experimental test at Bellevue Hospital, that it seems able to give any doctor a reliable green light for administration of penicillin. Dr. Charles Parker of Washington University in St. Louis is also running tests.

ALL TOLD, the doctors have pricked the skin of 5,000 patients with a mixture of Penicillin-G, the old standby, and the new testing compound with the gelatinous name Penicilloyl-Polylysine. Dr. Levine said that no one who didn't react with an angry red swelling at the test site has shown any allergy to a subsequent dose of penicillin.

On the other hand, some patients who reacted with a welt may not be sensitive. The doctors are too respectful of the so-called anaphylactic (shock) reaction to the drug to make any manifold efforts to find out. That reaction can kill a man in five minutes right in a doctor's office.

Years of research on the penicillin problem have yielded the essential chemical information about the reaction. Now all the clinicians have to do is figure out how best to apply it. The new testing substance is one fruit of that labor. Dr. Levine explained to reporters what has been learned.

In the first place, humans don't become allergic to penicillin itself. The body rearranges the drug atoms into a molecule that combines with certain proteins naturally present in the body. That combination can either plug in a quick, violent reaction or a delayed but severe skin rash or do nothing at all.

THE DOCTORS would like very much not to use penicillin itself to check the allergy. There is a slight chance of sensitizing somebody that way, who otherwise might not become a penicillin reactor.

Specialists in allergy and immunity have shown that a chemical carrier can be synthesized that will encourage the body to react to an allergic substance if the body has any tendency to do so.

Thus the chemists strung together 200 molecules of lysine, a common amino acid and a constituent of much of the body's protein structure.

ON THE LYSINE chain they hang 200 molecules of the reactive form of penicillin, so that cells in the skin will have an optimum chance of outrage. The skin will do that in 15 minutes in about 2 per cent of all people tested, Dr. Levine said.

If that is the case, why shouldn't the shiny new compound have a place in every doctor's office tomorrow? No penicillin prescriptions without a trial needle? Not so fast, said Dr. Levine, echoed promptly by Dr. Edward A. Carr of the University of Michigan.

The two doctors would like to see at least 100,000 patients checked before they'll vouch for their new test. That is going to take a long time.

The trouble is that penicillin reactions are so unpredictable. The amount given can change the picture. There are half a dozen new penicillins. And while the reaction is basically the same for all, some people, for inexplicable reasons, react to one form of penicillin but not to another.

Hope In South

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Last week I was present at the Southern Conference of Young Republicans in Atlanta. As most people know, the Young Republicans is an authentic national political organization. It has state and college groups with a full roster of officers. As a federation it holds lively annual national conventions.

I have a deep interest in these young people, for if the Republican party — if the two-party system — is to have a vital future, it must come from young men and women. In most states the senior Republicans have permitted their organizations to decline and disintegrate. In a very few years, perhaps before the 1968 presidential election, these young people will take over much of the GOP. This is especially true of the South, where Republican organizations were either merely nominal or nonexistent.

IN MY TALKS with these young people in Atlanta, I was especially concerned in learning the motives, point of view and spirit which have made them such a potential political force:

1. They largely come from the fast-growing industrial areas of the South. Their parents and grandparents were Democrats. With the dawn of political consciousness they have realized that the old Democratic habits in their area are a bar to progress. They are in revolt against an ancient and meaningless political regime. That in itself is a mark of progressive thought.

2. They anticipate playing a part in a new industrial, social and political era. They believe that growth can come only as state and local responsibility can be vitalized. And hence they resent the paternalism and power of the federal government in Washington.

3. They are only moderately concerned with the racial issue in their states. They tell me that they regard the present tensions over civil rights as a party and they want no part of it.

In the audience to which I offered a few words of advice, I noticed several young Negroes who were working side by side with their white friends in planning to get out a Republican vote.

4. THEY ARE far removed from what is called extremism. One young man, who came to my room to talk, told me that he belonged to the John Birch Society and that therefore he felt he was ignored by the other people at the conference.

In general, the people there have already learned to be practical, working party members. They have no intention to wait years to attain power. They pursue no utopias and tilt at no ideological windmills.

5. In my remarks, the most enthusiastic response I had was when I told them that as Republicans they were creating a brand new party in their states. "You have no Republican past to haunt you. You are blazing a new trail, creating a new party, the future of which you and only you will shape."

6. Napoleon said that every French soldier carried a marshal's baton in his knapsack. These young people have personal ambitions as well as concern for creating a new party.

In the minds of most of them are dreams of becoming members of Congress, state and country officials, and governors. This personal concern gives them greater drive and enthusiasm.

7. A great majority are Goldwater partisans. That is not only because of their admiration for the Arizona senator. It is because they are convinced that if he is the Republican presidential candidate he will carry many of their candidates to victory. Win or lose, Goldwater will greatly strengthen Southern Republicanism in the '60s.

8. I was most impressed by the fact that in their round tables and programs the emphasis was much less upon issues and ideology than upon political methods and organization.

They well know that the first lesson in politics is that while good candidates and issues are important, victory comes only with superior organization. Getting out the vote is of first concern in political leadership.

9. Republicans everywhere might well note this political revolution in the South. The destiny of the party may well depend upon these young, dedicated people. The future is what they will make of it.

So They Say

Let us not have any illusions that the German nation is already politically mature. It is susceptible and unsteady.—Retired Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

I've still got some fight left in me.—Soviet Premier Khrushchev, now 70.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: You wrote, and wisely, that smoking is neither sophisticated nor stylish. You said it can shorten lives, and that it is an expensive and a dirty habit. Why, then, do so many people do it? The answer is simple:

A child can suck his thumb and drag around an old blanket. An adult who sucked his thumb and dragged around an old blanket would be led off by a man in a white coat.

So the adult does what is socially acceptable. He sticks a cigarette or a cigar or a pipe in his mouth. These are pacifiers for adults. These babies don't mind fouling the air of your living room or an office shared by nonsmokers.

They care not if they burn holes in their clothing or set fire to their mattresses and burn up the whole family. They are large infants who haven't grown up.

Do you have the courage to print this? I'll wait and see.—UN - ENSLAVED.

Dear Un - Enslaved: Your theory is not new and I don't agree that it takes any special courage to print it. Of course the "Enslaved" will scream like eagles and shout, "Freudian garbage" when they see this but the experts (many of them, at any rate) say you are right.

Blabber Mouth

Dear Ann: When you spoke here at the auditorium you said the basis for a successful marriage is communication. I was happy my husband was there to hear you because I've been trying to get that idea across for years but I never knew how.

I decided last night to write down everything he said from the minute he came home. Here is the full report:

6:10 — "Any mail?"
6:25 — "Tell the kids to get that darned dog to stop barking."
6:35 — "Don't you know how to fix anything but meat loaf?"
6:50 — "Pass the sugar."
7:10 — "How come the newspaper is wet?"
7:45 — "Change the channel. This is lousy."
10:30 — "Walk the hound. I'm going to bed."
Now, Ann Landers, I ask you, is THIS communication? Thanks for your help. — BILLINGS, MONT.

Dear Billings: It's a start. At least the guy has vocal chords. You said nothing, however, about your responses to Blabber Mouth. Did you try to engage him in conversation? This is where many wives fail. They are uninformed and dull. Their idea of conversation is a Gossip report on the kids or a rehash of the palaver heard across the back fence. Most husbands couldn't care less, so they retreat behind the newspaper or fall asleep in front of the "Boob Tube."

One-Track Mind

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 17-year-old girl who is crazy about a fellow I will call Todd. It takes me out about once every other week. I always get dressed up nice, hoping we will go to a movie or to a party, but it's always the same routine. We neck.

I invited him to three different parties at my school but he refused me every time. He has never asked me to a party at his school. I have suggested we double date and he always says, "Yeah, that would be great." Then he shows up alone.

I'm afraid Todd wants me for only one thing. I care a great deal for him, so please tell me how to get him to treat me like an all-around girl.—THE DOG.

Dear Dog: Once a girl is type-cast it's tough to win another role. Tell Todd not to call any more unless he plans to take you somewhere besides the woods. If he never calls again take my word for it, Honey, you're lucky to be rid of him before you wind up in real trouble.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Cook Is Hired for Retarded School

LISBON — School lunches at the Retarded Children's School in Elkton moved a step nearer reality today as Robert Bycroft, superintendent of the school, hired Mrs. Sara Temple, 117 Jerome St., as cook.

The county commissioners approved her appointment last Thursday. She will be assisted by four former pupils at the school, who will not be paid at the present time.

About 65 meals will be served daily to the 58 pupils, teachers and other school personnel. The meals, which will cost 30 cents each, will be eaten in the classrooms, as the school does not have an all-purpose room.

The school will not participate this term in the state and federal lunch program, but is expected to be certified for the federal program by September.

Mrs. Robert R. Doyle

Judith Kloos Is Bride Of Robert R. Doyle

Palms and fernery formed an altar background, decorated with vases of white snapdragons and white carnations, for the exchange of nuptial vows at 2:30 p.m. Saturday at the Emmanuel Lutheran Church, uniting in marriage Miss Judith Ann Kloos, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Kloos of RD 3, Salem, and Robert Russell Doyle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Doyle of French St., Damascus.

Rev. Richard D. Freseman officiated at the double ring ceremony. Miss Linda Crawford was organist and John Varian of Akron sang traditional wedding songs.

Escorted by her father down an aisle whose pew ends were marked with white satin bows, the bride wore a floor length gown of white Chantilly lace with extremely bouffant skirt, long sleeves and portrait neckline. The fullness of the skirt swept to a chapel train. A double Danish crown of pearls held her bouffant shoulder length veil and her flowers were white sweetheart roses, stephanotis and ivy in cascade arrangement.

Mrs. Norman Sangree was matron of honor. She wore a dress of lavender peau with scoop neckline, modified bell skirt and the molded bodice was overlaid with white lace. Her circular face veil was attached to a cluster of lavender flowers.

Bridesmaids were Miss Valerie Fitting, cousin of the bride, and Miss Linda Woolf. They wore dresses identical to that of the matron of honor.

Miss Denise Doyle, sister of the bridegroom, was junior bridesmaid, and Shellee Sue Kloos, sister of the bride, was flower girl, both in dresses matching that of the other attendants.

Steven Kloos, brother of the bride, carried the rings on a heart shaped pillow.

Norman Sangree served Mr. Doyle as best man. Ushers were Kenneth Steele, Donald Cope and Fred Kloos, brother of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Kloos wore a pink crepe dress and corsage of roses. Mrs. Doyle's dress was of pink brocade and her corsage of carnations.

Reception Follows

White linen covered the bride's table at the reception in the church Fellowship Hall and a four-tier white and lavender cake topped with a miniature bridal figurine nestled in a ring of lavender carnations and springfern centered the table which was lighted with lavender tapers in crystal candelabra.

Hostesses were Mrs. Fred Drotleff, Mrs. Albert Spack, and Mrs. E. J. Fitting. Martha Goist of Girard registered the 300 guests who attended.

From the reception the couple left for a honeymoon to Washington, D. C., for which the bride wore a two piece pink suit with white lace overlay and corsage of pink sweetheart roses.

They will reside at 189 E. Third St.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Doyle were hosts at the rehearsal dinner Friday evening at Barnett's restaurant when gifts were presented to the attendants.

Hints From Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

DEAR FOLKS: There was a little gal named Clara Harper and she wasn't bright — she was EVEN smarter!

This darling has written with what I think is a fabulous idea. Know how we cook those fruit pies which have a top and bottom crust, and the edges of the top crust get too brown on the outside before the center is completely done? Or the apples thoroughly cooked?

Here's what Clara did:

She took an aluminum pie tin and cut the center from it. (Discard the center and you end up with a "ring.")

Cook the pie as usual until the edges start to brown THEN put this inverted ring over the top of the pie and continue cooking until the center of the pie crust is brown and the filling completely done.

I improvised with her idea by using the same ring and putting it in an empty pie shell I was baking. If you gently lay the "ring" IN the shell after it has cooked a wee bit the crust doesn't get too brown on the outside rim nor does the shell shrink or come out of shape!

Thanks, Clara.

Phyllis correctly spelled "illiterate" after it had been misspelled by Sarah Knopp and then spelled "gravitate" correctly to win the local spelling contest.

Other participants in Greenford spelling contest were: Peg-out vanity lamp shades and cut strips of nylon net about 1½ inches wide (they do not have man, Faith Pressell, Beverly to be perfect). I wrapped the strips around, overlapping each man.

N. Viet Nam Raids Urged by Lausche

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, believes South Vietnamese troops should raid North Viet Nam to lessen the pressure from Red attacks.

Lausche and Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., called for such action Sunday and agreed that North Viet Nam communists should not be allowed to have "a privileged sanctuary," immune from attack.

Lausche made his remarks in an interview conducted by Scott on a program taped for television and radio use on Pennsylvania stations.

Another Democrat, Sen. Frank Church of Idaho, disagreed and said it would be a great mistake to create "the launching pad for another Korea."

cared for wounded soldiers on the battlefield.

Russians Seek To Avert Samarkand Flood Threat

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet engineer have begun blasting in an attempt to drain off flood waters threatening the fabled Mongol capital of Samarkand and villages along the Zeravshan River blocked by a huge landslide.

The Communist party newspaper Pravda said engineers sent to the edge of the Pamir Mountains in Southwest Asia Sunday night began blasting a canal through the slide, which was said to be as high as an 80-story building and 2,000 feet wide.

Pravda said 625 million cubic feet of water have built up behind the slide, which on Friday formed a huge natural dam. It said the water level behind the dam rose more than 105 feet in 50 hours.

The Soviet news agency Tass said an attempt would be made to divert the blocked, fast-rising river and remove the threat to Samarkand, an ancient city of blue-tiled old mosques and new industries. It is 1,700 miles southeast of Moscow, near the juncture of the Soviet Union, Red China and Afghanistan.

Tass said the landslide occurred Friday when the Darnovz Mountain "cracked as a result of earth tremors" and was "cut in two by water."

The huge mass of earth and rock fell into the river, swollen by a month of heavy rains, and the slide formed a natural dam. A lake is forming 100 miles upstream from Samarkand, a city of 215,000 persons, but the earth dam threatens to break and unleash a raging torrent.

"This catastrophe is fraught with the danger of an unprecedented flood in the whole of the Zeravshan Valley," said Tass.

The official Peking People's Daily charged today that Khrushchev had once supported Leon Trotsky, the arch-heretic of Soviet communism. Trotsky, Lenin's close collaborator and apparent heir, was purged by Stalin and murdered in exile.

The latest Peking attack on Khrushchev was in reply to Soviet attempts to pin the Trotskyite label on the Chinese leadership.

Ruby Butts Head Against Cell Wall

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Jack Ruby, a lump on his almost bald head from colliding with a cell wall, appears in court today as defense lawyers seek his admittance to a hospital for more mental tests.

Sheriff Bill Decker said the condemned slayer of accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald charged head-first against his Dallas County jail cell wall early Sunday in a "deliberate act."

Ruby's lawyers asked a few days ago that Judge Joe B. Brown order him placed in a hospital. The former night club operator pleaded insanity in his March trial, but was sentenced to death.

Under heavy guard, Ruby was sped to a hospital for skull X-rays which a hospital attendant said confirmed the injury was minor.

Decker said Ruby attempted to rip his clothing when he was returned to his cell. The few jail furnishings were then removed from the cell as a precautionary measure, with only a mattress left.

Slaying

er walked behind the prescription counter and found his friend lying face down in a pool of blood, fatally wounded.

Stark County Coroner G. S. Shaheen ruled the death a homicide resulting from acute internal hemorrhage caused by gun shots.

Three slugs were fired at close range into the front of Mr. Nagy's body. The fatal slug perforated the upper right liver and kidney. There were powder burns around each wound.

Originally it had been reported that the druggist had been stabbed. However, the autopsy revealed that what appeared to be stab wounds had been caused by a gun shot.

Chief Cowan said that Saturday's cash receipts apparently were intact. One witness told police that a 1957 or 58 model car was seen speeding from the area at about 8 p.m. headed west toward Canton.

The Alliance police chief said Nagy was alone in the store. His wife, Ruby, left shortly before to take a niece to a church event. She returned about 20 minutes later.

Chief Cowan said that the killer could have entered the store undetected while the pharmacist was watching a television program near the prescription department near the rear of the store.

Mr. Nagy was apparently eating a slice of toast when a slug struck him in the right side. He apparently collapsed immediately. The first shot plunged downward, the autopsy revealed, and left the body at the lower portion of the back. The other two remained in the body.

Mrs. Nagy told Chief Cowan that her husband had no known enemies, had not received any threatening letters, nor had he reported any unusual incidents.

Funeral Is Wednesday

Chief Cowan said the clothes Mr. Nagy was wearing will be sent to the Federal Bureau of Investigation laboratories for study to determine the actual distance from where the bullets were fired.

Mr. Nagy was a member of the Elks Lodge and would have been 47-years-old May 20. He was born in Elyria but spent a greater portion of his life in Alliance.

In addition to his widow, he is survived by his mother, Mrs. Anna Tripp, and a sister, Mrs. Ethel Russell, both of Alliance.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at the Regina Coeli Church, where he was a member. Time of services has been set, tentatively, for 9:30 a.m.

Calling hours will be held at the Myers Funeral Home Tuesday from 7 to 9 p.m. and burial will be in Alliance City Cemetery.

Oak Is Newest Fair-Haired Lady In Cabinetwork Family

The popularity of different kinds of wood runs in cycles. Even some of the old standbys have their peak and low periods. One of these is oak.

are in pleasantly warm, medium shades. Such names as "nut brown," "chestnut" and "driftwood grey" appear. Regardless of shade, the finish should be treated to withstand use, and not to fade. But this is the responsibility of the manufacturer, and the best the consumer can do to assure it is to buy a quality brand.

Watch for compatibility if other wood is used along with oak in the same collection or on the same piece. Worked harmoniously with oak, in groups already on the market, are elm, butternut, walnut, ash, birch, and pecan. One group contracts oak and teak. In general, oak and mahogany are not considered suitable running mates.

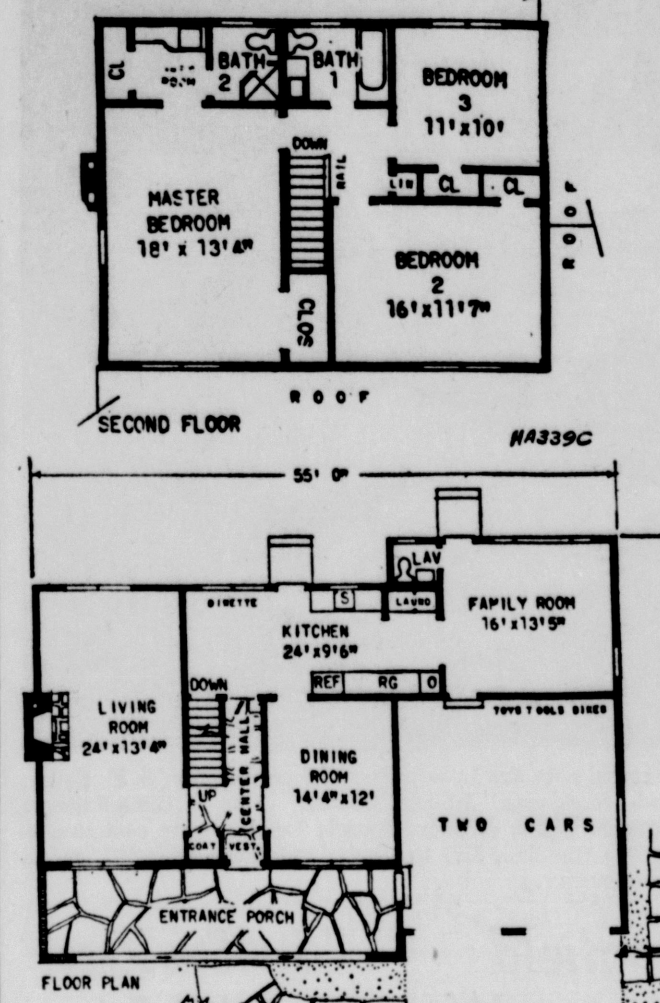

Where an oak is grown affects its quality. The Appalachian region, for instance, produces an oak that has a fine, uniform grain and can be carved well.

Some older oak furniture had heavy lines and an overwhelming massiveness. But much of the incoming oak furniture has a free-and-easy grace and dimensions to fit almost any room. In present interpretations, oak is just as appropriate for a young couple's apartment or a bachelor studio or a small suburban house, as it once was for Tudor castles and chateaux.

Styling is always a moot point—in oak as in other woods. Today's furniture designers favor, for oak, Early American or Colonial, Spanish, some English and some Contemporary or Modern. In buying, check details of wood ornamentation. Skilled carving can be executed in oak. There may be overlays and underlays. Recessed drawer pulls, instead of exterior hardware, can be expertly done in oak, as can be noted in some Scandinavian imports. In metal hardware, antiqued brass and pewter-washed metals are frequent companions for oak.

Other construction points to watch, when considering oak pieces, as when exploring any wood furniture, include: well-fitted parts; dovetailed drawers; solid interiors; and floating tops put together with screws. And, of course, nothing substitutes for a good manufacturer and a reliable dealer.

The November, 1933, dust storms of the Great Plains caused colored snow in New England, where 25 tons of dust per square mile was deposited.

TWO-STORY HOME features a living room that runs along the side of the house, with ventilation from three sides and a handsome fireplace. The large kitchen and service area stretch across the back of the house, leading into the family room, which has cross ventilation and its own lavatory. Upstairs, large closets for the three bedrooms and private bath and dressing room for the master suite are noteworthy. Plan HA339C was designed by Lester Cohen, Room 704 48 West 48 St., New York 36, N.Y., with 1,204 square feet for the first floor and 1,552 square feet for the second.

Accurate Measurements Backbone of Good Work

Accurate measurements are the backbone of good construction work. There's an old saying among carpenters that if you measure twice, you will have to cut only once. While there are dozens of precision tools to assist you in making accurate measurements, there are many times when you can do a faster job without the use of the conventional devices.

Suppose, for instance, you are making a picket fence and want to be certain there is exactly the same amount of space between the pickets. Why not use one of the pickets as a spacer? Nail the first picket to the framework, butt the spacer alongside it, then nail the next picket. Remove the spacer to the next position and repeat the process. You will not only avoid dozens of repeat measurements but you will virtually eliminate any possibility of making a mistake.

Another example: you are placing studs between the floor and the ceiling in a basement refinishing project. You know that the basement floor usually slopes slightly in the direction of the drain. That means you can't cut all studs the same length. Rather than make repeated measurements, take two strips of wood, each of which is longer than half the distance between the floor and ceiling. Hold one piece against the ceiling, the other against the floor. At the point where they overlap, clamp them together. That is how long the stud will have to be. If you think that's a lot of trouble which it isn't once you get the hang of it, then you've never tried to measure the distance between a floor and a ceiling a couple of dozen times.

A scrap of wood of the proper length will enable you to get shelves. Any time you have to make a lot of identical measurements keep in mind that you often can avoid mistakes by using such a piece of scrap wood or something similar.

Lime Not Always Helpful to Lawns

Many Ohio homeowners damage their lawns by "feeding" them lime. Lime applications can greatly improve the growth and appearance of lawn grasses, but when not needed they can cause trouble, say Ohio State University extension specialists.

The only way to get an accurate test to determine if lawns need lime is to take a sample of the soil to your county extension office.

Specialists say Ohio soils have great variations in native lime contents. Soils are naturally high in lime west of a line from Sandusky to Columbus and Chillicothe, and north of a line from Chillicothe to Hamilton. South and east of these lines soils are acid unless they have been limed.

Lawn fertilization practices greatly affect the need for lime, the specialists say. For example, when 1 pound of nitrogen is applied as ammonium sulfate, 5 pounds of lime are required to maintain the soil reaction (acidity or alkalinity) at a given level. Thus, if the fertilization program includes 3 pounds of nitrogen from ammonium sulfate per 1,000 square feet every year, it would be necessary to apply 30 pounds of lime per 1,000 square feet every two years to prevent the soil from becoming acid. Other nitrogen fertilizers require the use of different amounts of lime.

Tribe Blanked 1st Time This Season, Loses 7-0

Romano Gets Three Singles

Indians Start Series With Twins Tuesday

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Cleveland's five-game winning streak has ended, but the Indians continue as early front-runners in the American League with five victories in seven games.

The Tribe was shut out for the first time Sunday as Los Angeles got six-hit pitching from Fred Newman (1-0) in a 7-0 conquest. The loss was Cleveland's first since opening day.

The Indians, who won the series 3-1, now hold a half-game edge over the second-place Detroit Tigers.

John Romano was the only Cleveland batter who didn't have trouble with Newman. The 22-year-old righthander, in his first complete major league game, struck out four, walked none and let the Indians get only one runner past second base. Romano singled three times in four at-bats. Teammate Leon Wagner had a double.

Jim (Mudcat) Grant, the Tribe starter, suffered his first defeat in two decisions. Control was Grant's biggest problem, and the veteran right-hander allowed four runs and three hits before leaving the game with two on and none out in the third inning.

Gordon Seyfried, first of four Cleveland relievers, took over for Grant, permitting three hits but no runs in the two innings he worked. He was followed to the mound by Sonny Siebert, Don McMahon and Gary Bell, none of whom could stop the Angels.

Three Angels shared batting honors. Bill Moran, former Cleveland infielder, and Leroy Thomas each poked two singles and a double. Tom Satriano, replacing the slumping Joe Adcock at first base, singled three times and drove in three runs. The Indians, idle today, open a three-game day-time series tomorrow with Minnesota in Minneapolis. Dick Donovan will oppose the Twins' Jim Roland in the opener.

Football Parents To Meet

The Salem Football Parents Club will discuss plans to hold a "towel party" at a meeting in the Columbia Gas Co. basement Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

BASEBALL OFFICIALS MAP PLANS — Salem Junior Baseball League officials discussed plans for the coming season at a meeting held in the American Legion Home Sunday. Present were (l. to r.) Charles E. Mattevi, Class G commissioner; G. M. Sutherin, director; Roger Tuel, Morning League commissioner; Joe Lyons, Class H commissioner; S. E. Eskay, head scorekeeper; William Odorizzi, Class E commissioner; Reynaldo Oriole, director; Francis Taubler, state commissioner; Bob Whitehill, SJB treasurer; and Glenn Whitehill, executive secretary.

Cleveland Player-Coach Sets Records

Barons Roll Up 9th In Row To Capture AHL Calder Cup

CLEVELAND (AP) — Fred Glover, a brilliant play-maker who owns a flock of American Hockey League records, has proved himself a fine coach as well.

In his second season as player-coach of the Cleveland Barons, Glover guided his team through an unprecedented nine-game sweep of the post-season Calder Cup playoffs.

The Barons came from behind to finish the job with a 5-2 victory over Quebec Saturday night.

The Aces scored early and blanked Cleveland until the second period was half gone. Then Glover benched himself and put in Len Ronson, a youngster just up from Omaha playing his second game for Cleveland.

"I had a feeling that Lennie might get it past Worsley (Quebec Goaltender Lorne (Gump) Worsley)," said Glover. "He's got a quick shot with pretty good power, and I know Worsley hadn't seen much of him."

The move paid off when Jim Mikol rifled a pass across the front of the cage to Ronson, who slammed it past Worsley.

From then on the Barons were sailing. Glover scored the second goal, setting a league record of 99 points in playoff games. His 47 playoff goals and appearances in 15 playoff series also are records.

Also scoring for Cleveland were Guy Rousseau, Cecil Hoekstra and Bob Ellett. Wayne Hicks and defenseman Jim Morrison scored the Quebec goals.

The Barons, who have been in 26 playoffs in 23 seasons, were underdogs in this one after finishing the regular season in third place in the Western Division. Quebec coasted to a first-place finish in the Eastern Division.

"The Barons ousted Rochester with two victories in a best-of-three-game series, took three straight semifinal games from Hershey and then won four straight in the best-of-seven finals against Quebec."

Canfield Feature Won By Lantz

Dick Lantz of Newton Falls captured the late model feature in the 1964 Canfield inaugural before 6,829 fans Saturday night.

In the amateur division, Salem's Harry Maenz was second in the first heat, and Don Eisenwein was fifth in the fourth heat.

Gary Cross of Girard took the first event, George Playforth of Canfield, second; Bob Schrom of Boardman, third; Vince Carbone of Niles, fourth; and Paul Finch of Canfield won the feature.

Chuck Daugherty of Poland took the first heat in the late model bracket. Cortland's George Hegedus took second heat honors; and Ed Reinhard of Youngstown was first in the pursuit.

Lantz took command on the 8th lap and went on to win. Bill Larson of Youngstown was the early leader with Chuck Daugherty of Poland taking over on the third lap. Daugherty gave way to Lantz on the 8th turn.

Following Lantz across the finish line in order were Daugherty, Bill Forney of Youngstown, George Hegedus of Cortland and Bill Larson of Youngstown.

United Sets School Marks At Bellaire

Two United High School records were set during the Tornado Relays held at Dover Saturday.

The mile relay team of Gene Metzgar, Bill McGranahan, Ed Dangler and Fritz Zeigler finished fourth in 3:39.3, bettering the Golden Eagles mark of 3:40.2 set in the state meet at Columbus last season.

Metzgar broke his own mark in the broad jump when he leaped 19 feet, 2 1/4 inches. He failed to score any points, however, as he placed sixth. He had set the United School mark earlier this season when he leaped 19 feet, 1 1/4 inches in a dual meet at Minerva.

Zeigler, a sophomore, placed fourth in the 440-yard dash at Dover. His time was a respectable 53.9 seconds. Metzgar turned in his best effort in the 880-yard run, finishing fourth in 2:03.7.

Ken Votaw cleared 5 feet, 8 inches in the high jump to place fifth.

Sophomore Marty Briceland was third in his heat of the mile run in 4:58.3 but failed to place. The winning time in the event was 4:35.3.

Mount Union Cops OC Relays Crown

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — Mount Union won six events and scored 43 points to win the third annual Ohio Conference Team Relays Saturday. Ohio Wesleyan was second with 42 points and defending champion Akron was third with 41.

The Purple Raiders won the 880, distance medley, sprint medley, 440-yard, mile and four-mile relays.

Records were set in 10 of the 12 events held previously. The team scoring:

Mount Union 43; Ohio Wesleyan 42; Akron 41; Baldwin-Wallace 19 1/2; Otterbein 14; Denison 11 1/2; Hiram, Muskingum and Wittenberg 8; Wooster 5; Kenyon and Capital 4; Heidelberg, Marietta and Oberlin 0.

Crampton Rallies To Win Texas Open

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Bruce Crampton stole Arnold Palmer's script to win the $40,000 Texas Open golf tournament with the greatest come-from-behind performance of the year.

Palmer skipped the Texas Open this time, after winning it three times, but Crampton subbed beautifully for the man with all that money and noted for his stretch runs. Palmer once made up eight strokes.

Crampton, the 28-year-old Australian, shot a closing five-under-par 65 over the 6,715-yard Oak Hills Country Club course to come from a tie for 16th to the championship by one stroke with 273 for 72 holes. He made up six strokes.

Tied for second were Jan (Chico) Rodriguez, a Puerto Rican,

Rodriguez had a chance to tie for it when he came into the final green seven-under-par for the tournament but he missed a six-foot putt and took a bogey.

Anyway, the Texas Open turned out to be a show for the foreigners—three took the first three places. A foreigner never before had won this oldest tournament in golf.

Crampton's $5,800 first money here gave him a total of $13,361.67 and vaulted him from 23rd to eighth in the list.

Players Still Needed In SJB Leagues

There are still openings for 25 boys, 11 and 12 years of age, to play in the Salem Junior Baseball Class G League this season.

Boys in that age group, who desire to play baseball, are urged to call Charlie Mattevi, Class G Commissioner, at the Lape Hotel as soon as possible so they can be assigned to teams.

A total of 25 boys, not presently assigned to teams, reported for registration at Memorial Park Saturday. Eleven of these will be assigned to Class H, 8 to Class G, 4 to Class F and 2 to Class E.

Roger Tuel, Morning League commissioner, announced that registration for youngsters under 9 years of age, who wish to participate in the beginners group, will be held next Saturday at 10 a.m. at Memorial Park. In event of rain, the registration will be held at the American Legion Post.

Beginners group boys are given a period of instruction in baseball fundamentals and later placed on teams where they obtain experience in team competition.

Any parent interested in assisting with this program is requested to contact league officials at the registration.

Columbiana's Ward Stars At Bellaire

Jim Ward of Columbiana High School, perhaps the state's fastest dash star, set three records, won seven trophies, and scored all of his teams points in the Bellaire Relays Saturday.

The senior Clipper's athlete breezed to a 9.7 in the 100-yard dash, pranced to a 21.6 time in the 220-yard dash; then ran away from the pack in the gruelling 440-yard dash for a spectacular 48.7 clocking for the new marks.

His time in the quarter-mile was the best so far this season in the state, and the fastest ever run by a Columbiana County area athlete.

His fine effort gave the Clippers a fourth-place finish in the event, which was won by Cleveland East Tech with 37 points. Cleveland Glenview came in second with 27 markers, followed by Dayton Roosevelt with 19, and Columbiana with 18.

County Mental Health Unit Opens Drive

The Columbiana County Mental Health Association opened its $20,000 county wide fund campaign today, with Judge Louis Tobin of East Liverpool and George Wyer of Salem, co-chairmen.

Funds collected during the drive, which is being made in connection with Mental Health Week, will be used to operate and expand the services of the county clinic, located in Lisbon.

The state will give the county association two dollars for every one raised in the drive, if that much is needed. However, all funds received from the state must be used for paying professional help, while the county must provide for the actual "house keeping" of the local clinic.

Calvin Young of Cincinnati, executive director of the Ohio Division of the National Association for Mental Health, stressed the need for county clinics when he spoke recently at a meeting of the county group.

Young stated that a patient in a mental hospital normally needs to continue treatment after he is released. The county clinics make it much easier for the patient to get treatment and usually results in shortening the period the patient needs additional attention.

Area drive chairmen and their goals are as follows: Salem, Mr. and Mrs. Ford Joseph Jr., $5,000; Lisbon, Charles McKenzie, $900; Leetonia, George Trombitas, $500; Columbiana, Donald Hepp, $1,200.

The rural areas of the county are being canvassed by the granges under the leadership of Charles Morlan, deputy master, and the Farm Bureau's Women's Group under the direction of Mrs. John Yaggi, RD 5, Alliance, and Mrs. Evelyn Hoopes, RD 2, Beloit.

Boy Feared Kidnaped By Hunted Desperado

HUMBOLDT, Tenn. (AP) — Federal and local officers searched today for one of the FBI's ten most wanted men and an 8-year-old boy who is feared kidnaped.

Police from Humboldt and three neighboring towns in west Tennessee abandoned a dragnet around a 6- to 8-square mile section of the city Sunday night but said they were continuing their search.

Officers were looking for Dennis Burke, who disappeared Friday night, and for Joseph Francis Bryan Jr., of Audubon Park, N.J., wanted by the FBI in connection with the slaying of a South Carolina boy.

Police Chief Joe Riding said police had received several reports that an automobile driven by a man resembling Bryan's description was seen in Humboldt.

ENGAGEMENT BROKEN WASHINGTON (AP) — The engagement of President Johnson's 20-year-old daughter, Lynda Bird, to a young naval officer has been broken by mutual agreement.

The White House confirmed Saturday that Lynda had returned her diamond engagement ring to Lt. j.g. Bernard Rosenbach about a week earlier. Lt. Rosenbach, a 1963 graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy, is from Comfort, Tex.

Helen Belles, of Indiana, was the mother of Harold Macmillan, erst British prime minister.
